

RABBI LEWIS J. WEISS

Rabbi Lewis J. Weiss is entering his 30th year as a chaplain for Indiana University Health, and serves as a volunteer chaplain for multiple agencies, including the Indianapolis Metropolitan Police Department, Indianapolis Fire Department, Indianapolis International Airport, Indiana State Police, and the Indiana Guard Reserve.

Ordained at Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati, Rabbi Weiss also holds degrees from Penn State University, Rutgers University, and the University of Cincinnati. Rabbi Weiss is a licensed social worker and certified with the Association of Jewish Chaplains and Association of Professional Chaplains.

Rabbi Weiss and his wife of 38 years, Rabbi Faedra Weiss, live in Indianapolis. They have three daughters.