

Tiffany M. Gill, Ph.D
BIO

Dr. Tiffany M. Gill is the Inaugural John and Patricia Cochran Scholar and Associate Professor of Africana Studies and History at the University of Delaware. A graduate of Georgetown and Rutgers Universities, she is the author of Beauty Shop Politics: African American Women's Activism in the Beauty Industry (University of Illinois Press, 2010) which was awarded the 2010 Letitia Woods Brown Memorial Book Prize by the Association of Black Women Historians. Dr. Gill's research has been supported by the American Association of University Women and the National Endowment of the Humanities. A recipient of the 2010 Regents' Outstanding Teaching Award for excellence in undergraduate education, Dr. Gill was named a Distinguished Lecturer by the Organization of American Historians in 2015. In 2018, Diverse Issues in Higher Education recognized her as one of the top 25 women in higher education. A Brooklyn girl, self-proclaimed tea snob, and amateur makeup artist, Professor Gill currently is currently at work on a book manuscript chronicling the promise and peril of African American international leisure travel since World War One. You can find her on social media @SableVictorian.
