Description of Committee Activities

The committee has begun the process of developing programming for the 2025 festival. We will also be discussing the proposal submitted by committee member Ty Collins for programming coming out of the Charleston Branch. Committee member Brian Morrison is working to develop a plan to develop a programming geared toward K-12 educators and partnering with educational organizations such as McGraw Hill that serve that population. For the 2025 festival we have developed Four programs so far:

- Marquee Program:
 - A Conversation with Trymaine Lee and Nina Turner looking at the role of Labor in Today's fight for equal justice.
- Opening Program:
 - A Conversation with Congressman Maxwell Frost, and Tennessee Legislators Justin Jones and Justin J. Pearson
- A Presentation by Golden Owens on the Role of AI in the Labor
- Presentation by Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity on the Legacy of A. Phillip Randolph.

Successes

The committee completed a successful 2024 festival with three committee produced programs and several other partner produced programs for the month.

Challenges

Ensuring that we have a better accounting of indirect and marketing costs associated with the festival. We also need to ensure that our scheduled programming aligns with the budgeted amount of programming.

Plans for 2025

Developing the 2025 virtual festival. Developing year round programming related to the theme.
