

Executive Summary 2024-2025

Award Winning

Black History Bulletin (BHB)

Co-Editors: Dr. Alicia L. Moore & Dr. La Vonne I. Neal

Profile Link: <https://asalh.org/document/the-black-history-bulletin/#editors>

ASALH[®]
THE FOUNDERS OF BLACK HISTORY MONTH

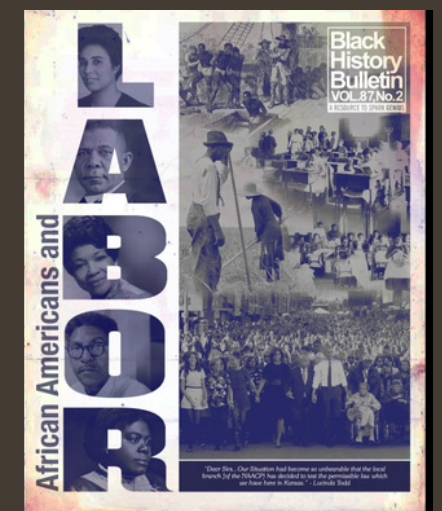

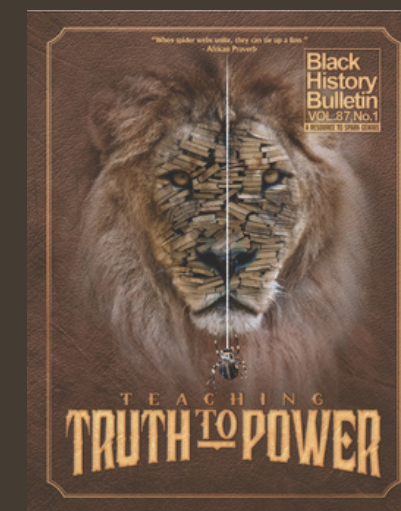

Table of Contents

01 Highlights

02 BHB Co-Editor - Dr. Alicia L. Moore

03 BHB Co-Editor - Dr. La Vonne I. Neal

04 Volume 87, Number 1

05 BHB Social ADs

06 Volume 87, Number 2

07 BHB Social ADs

BHB Highlights

- Webpage: <https://asalh.org/document/the-black-history-bulletin/>
- Both BHB issues were produced on schedule in print and digital version.
- The digital version of the BHB is housed on the Project MUSE platform. <https://muse.jhu.edu/pub/429/journal/837>

BHB Co-Editor

Dr. Alicia L. Moore

Dr. Alicia L. Moore holds the Cargill Endowed Professorship in Education at Southwestern University. Moore was a school principal and teacher in urban school districts. Additionally, she is co-editor for the Black History Bulletin (BHB)--an ASALH publication. Moore is an award-winning book author—Borders, Bras and Battles: A Practical Guide to Mentor Undergraduate Women to Achieve Career Success--<https://www.amazon.com/Borders-Bras-Battles-Practical-Undergraduate/dp/1627201106> whose internationally cited research includes culturally responsive leadership and teaching. Additionally, she is recipient of the Association for the Study of African American Life and History, Mary McLeod Bethune Service Award, conducts action-based research for best practices for teaching social studies, special education, English language learners, and early childhood education. She has served as a local evaluator for the federally funded Even Start Program.

Moore's most recent award-winning book is: Legacy of Action: How Dr. Geneva Gay Transformed Teaching

https://www.amazon.com/sk=Legacy+of+action%3A+how+dr.+geneva+gay+transformed+teaching&i=stripbooks&crd=V1NKMSPG3GLK&srefix=legacy+of+actio n+how+dr.+geneva+gay+transformed+teaching%2Cstripbooks%2C133&ref=nb_sb_noss

BHB Co-Editor

Dr. La Vonne I. Neal

Dr. La Vonne I. Neal is Professor Emerita and Associate Vice President, Administration and Finance (RET.), Northern Illinois University (NIU). Neal, co-editor for the Black History Bulletin (BHB) and formerly Dean of two Colleges of Education is a teacher educator whose work in the design and implementation of culturally responsive teaching methods has earned wide recognition both among educators and popular press. For example, her research on the correlation between African American male students' walking styles and their placement in special education courses has been featured globally in mass media. Neal is an award-winning book author—Borders, Bras and Battles: A Practical Guide to Mentor Undergraduate Women to Achieve Career Success--<https://www.amazon.com/Borders-Bras-Battles-Practical-Undergraduate/dp/1627201106>. Additionally, she is recipient of the Association for the Study of African American Life and History, Mary McLeod Bethune Service Award and the Association of Black Women Historians, Lorraine A. Williams Leadership Award.

Neal's most recent award-winning book is: Legacy of Action: How Dr. Geneva Gay Transformed Teaching

https://www.amazon.com/sk=Legacy+of+action%3A+how+dr.+geneva+gay+transformed+teaching&i=stripbooks&crd=V1NKMSPG3GLK&srefix=legacy+of+action+ho+w+dr.+geneva+gay+transformed+teaching%2Cstripbooks%2C133&ref=nb_sb_noss

BHB COVER

Volume 87, Number 1

Theme: Teaching Truth to Power

BHB Social ADs

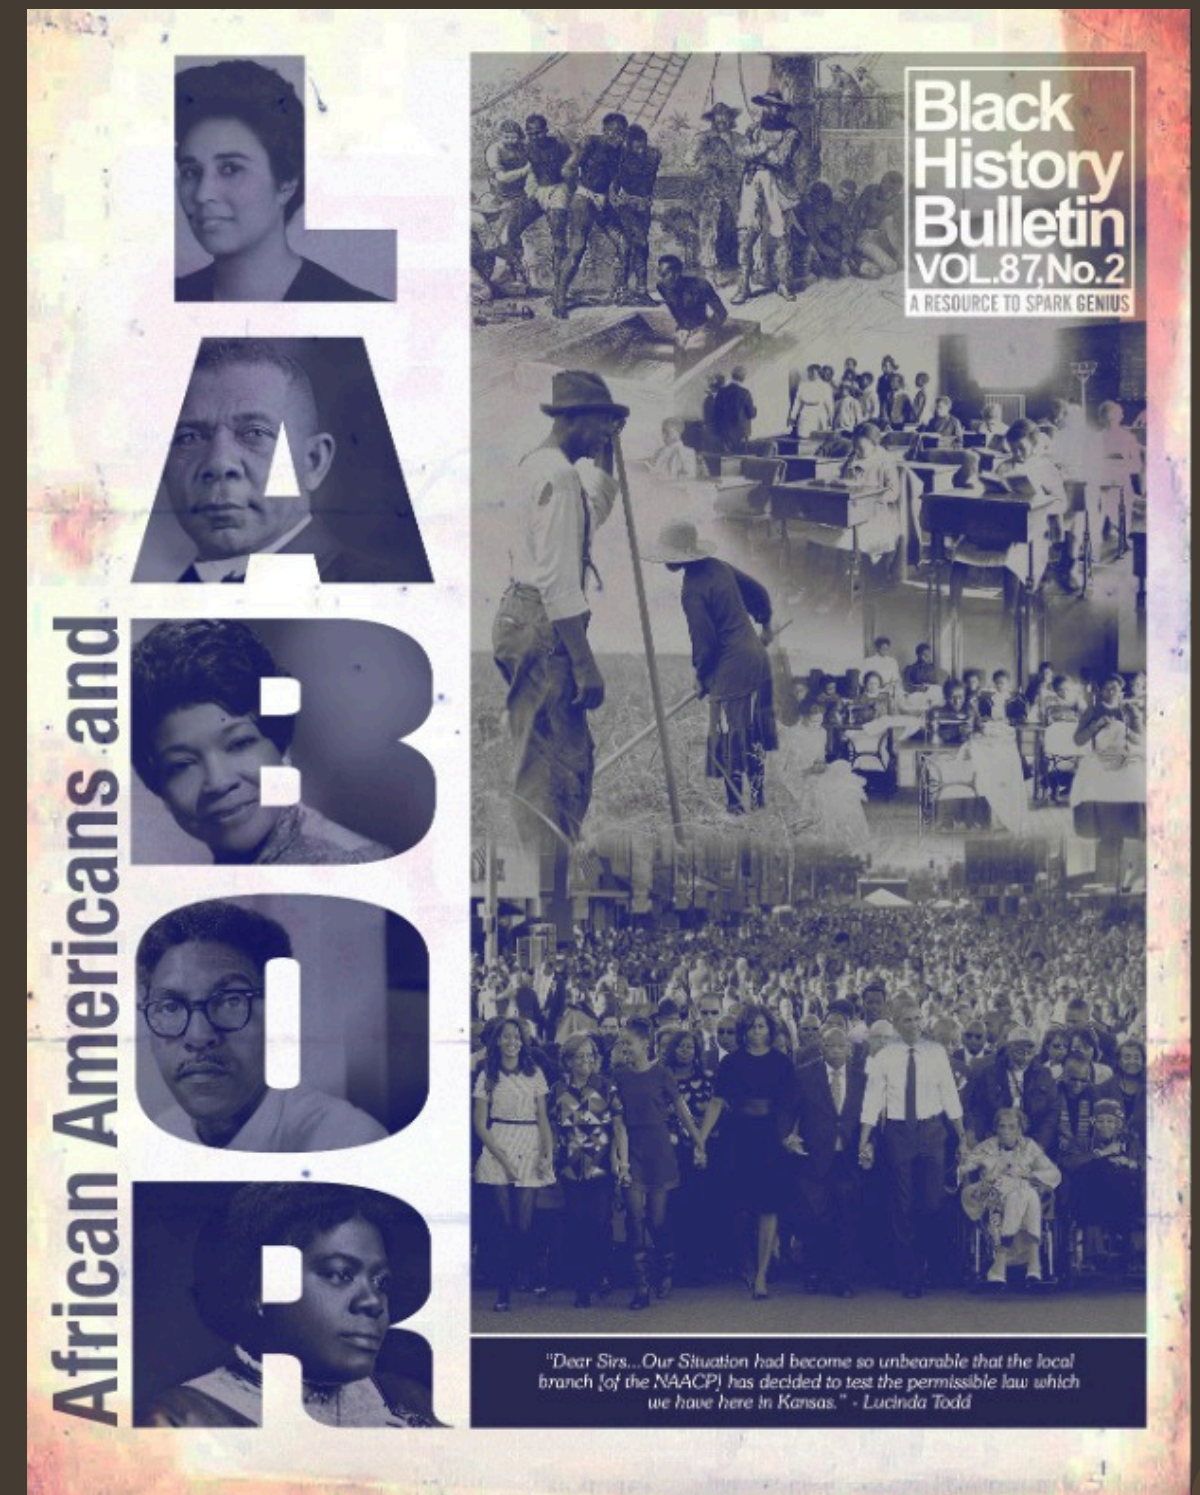

Volume 87, Number 2

Theme: African Americans and Labor

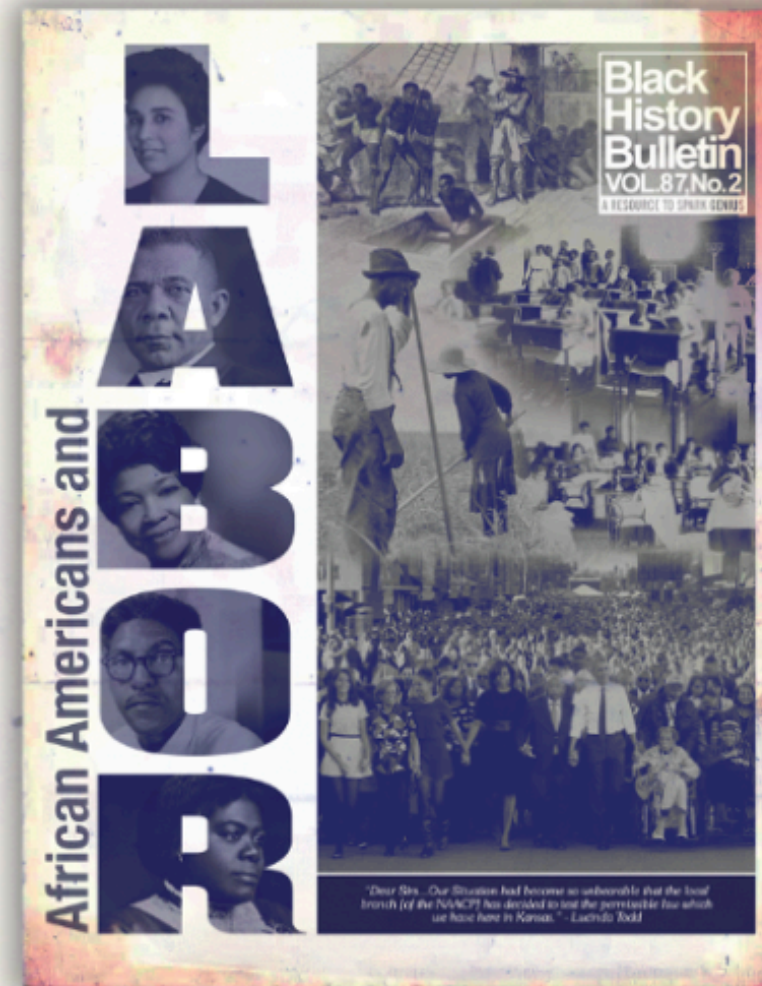

BHB COVER

BHB Social ADs

OUT NOW!
THE BLACK HISTORY
BULLETIN

VOL. 87, NO. 2

SHOP NOW!

THE BLACK HISTORY
BULLETIN

VOL. 87, NO. 2

